

Intergovernmental Review Process

This process should be initiated prior to submitting your application to EPA!

Executive Order 12372 and EPA's implementing regulation 40 CFR Part 29 require that all interested state, area-wide, regional, and local agencies be given the opportunity to review and comment on proposed Federal assistance within their area(s) of jurisdiction or influence. The regulations also provide for implementation of the requirements of Section 204 of the Demonstration Cities and Metropolitan Development Act of 1966, as amended, which apply to all Federal assistance.

EPA cannot award assistance until all interested parties (e.g., State agencies, Planning and Economic Development agencies) have been given the opportunity to review the proposed project and all concerns of these agencies about the proposed project have been satisfactorily disposed of by the applicant.

Tribal Government applicants are encouraged to comply with this process, but it is not mandatory.

We recommend you begin the Intergovernmental Review process as early as possible, preferably at least 60 days prior to submitting your application to EPA. The Intergovernmental Review process varies by State, so we encourage you to contact your State Single Point of Contact (SPOC) to determine if an application review is required. A complete list of state SPOCs may be found at the following OMB web site.

Due to the elimination of SPOCs in the States of Kansas and Nebraska, it is necessary that applicants for funding which impacts those states submit their applications to the appropriate state, county, and area-wide reviewing agencies. A list of those agencies is included below. It is not necessary to send an application to all Development Districts and agencies listed but only to those agencies responsible for the area(s) affected or that may be affected by your proposed project.

Please enclose with your application to EPA a copy of all comments received from the review process and include an explanation of action taken to address any concerns of the designated agencies.

The EPA is not affiliated with any of the organizations listed, the purpose of which is to assist Region 7 grant applicants with compliance of Executive Order 12372, Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs.

This information has been compiled based on available information. Questions and corrections should be directed to the Region 7 grants staff or submitted to R7Grants@epa.gov.
