

EPA Model Worker Course

RESIDENTIAL LEAD-BASED PAINT ABATEMENT

Student Manual

Produced under EPA Contract #68-W01-033

by
SPS Technologies, Inc.
March 2004 edition

Office of Pollution Prevention and Toxics
U.S. Environmental Protection Agency
Washington, DC 20460

Produced by
SPS Technologies, Inc.
211 Perry Parkway, Suite 4
Gaithersburg, Maryland 20877
301-926-7726
Fax 301-926-7724

Subcontractor
Georgia Tech Research Institute
Safety, Health and Environmental Technology Division
151 6th Street, O'Keefe Building
Atlanta, Georgia 30332-0837
404-894-3806
Fax 404-894-8275

Material contained in this publication is in the public domain.

It may be reproduced without permission of the federal government. Information contained in this curriculum may be reprinted in full or in part, or freely quoted, if this page is included as a means of crediting resources. This manual is not intended as an interpretation of EPA or OSHA regulations.

The mention of trade names, commercial products or organizations does not imply endorsement by the Environmental Protection Agency or by the U.S. Government.

LEAD ABATEMENT FOR WORKERS

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Course Overview	i
What is lead? Where is it found?	1
Health Effects: How Lead Affects The Body	2
Laws, Regulations, Standards	3
Identifying Lead-based Paint Hazards	4
Controlling Lead-based Paint Hazards	5
Setup	6
Abatement Methods	7
Cleanup, Disposal, and Clearance	8
Soil Abatement and Exterior Dust Cleanup	9
Glossary and Resources	10
Appendix A
