

Freshwater in the Pacific: An Efficient Future

PACIFIC INSTITUTE

Research for People and the Planet

Matthew G. Heberger, P.E.

Pacific Institute

Oakland, California

www.pacinst.org

Water Conservation Practices

Practice #1: Hire a Conservation Coordinator

Practice #2: Public Education

Practice #3: Leak Detection and Repair

Practice #4: Provide Customer Water Audits

Practice #5: Rebates and Giveaways for Water-Saving Appliances and Fixtures.

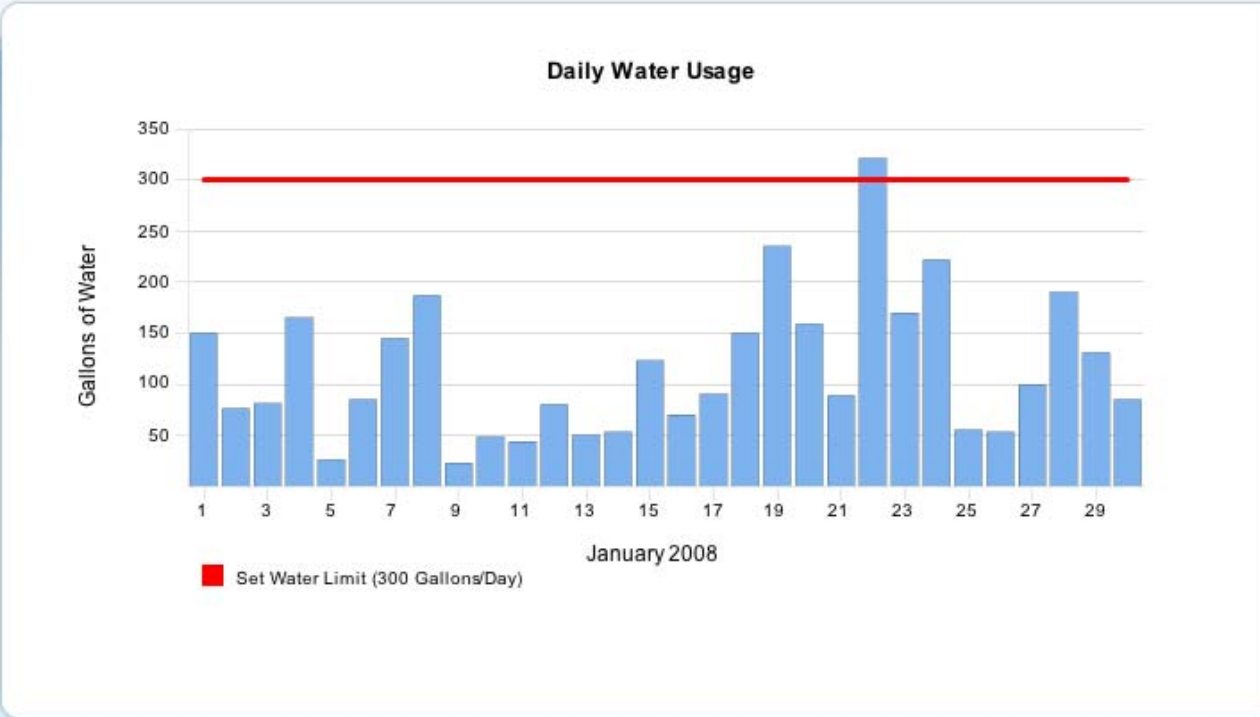

Water Conservation Practices

Practice #6: Conservation Rates

Practice #7: Give customers useful, timely information

Practice #8: Universal Metering

Advanced Metering Infrastructure

VIEW TYPE

TIMEFRAME

CLIMATE

 Temperature

 Precipitation

 ET Data

ALERTS

Daily Limit: ON (300 G/day)

Leak Detection: OFF

Edit Settings

Water Conservation Practices

Practice #6: Conservation Rates

Practice #7: Give customers useful, timely information

Practice #8: Universal Metering

Practice #9: Target your biggest water users.

Practice #10: Re-use treated wastewater.

Resources

Vickers, Amy. "Water Use and Conservation." Amherst, MA Waterplow Press. (2002), 434 pages.

Alliance for Water Efficiency:

<http://www.allianceforwaterefficiency.org/>

California Urban Water Use Council: <http://www.cuwcc.org/>

Pacific Institute Report: Waste Not, Want Not: Urban Water Use in California (2003).

<http://www.pacinst.org/reports/water/>

YouTube Video of Efficient Toilet Flushing a Potato:

<http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=ESOWyMAf-mk>

